PREFERS DEATH TO PENITENTIARY.

C. L. Frazier Ends Life at Winchester—Had Been in the Limelight Several Times

RECEIVED FIVE YEARS IN PEN

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 27.—Charged with appropriating jewelry to his own use, C. L. Frazier, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary at noon today, committed suicide tonight in his cell in the jail here by taking carbolic acid.

A negro trusty admitted having bought the drug for Frazier.

Frazier had already served two prison sentences, according to his own confession, once for safe blowing and once for house breaking. He admitted having been married three times, but claimed to have secured two divorces.

Known in Owensboro.

Charles L. Frazier, who was sentenced to the penitentiary at Winchester, Ky., yesterday and later committed suicide, was a well-known character in Owensboro, having been sent to the Edwille penitentiary from here for robbing the safe at Lea & Davis' stable several years ago.

After being released from the penitentiary, Frazier returned to Owensboro and worked for several tailoring establishments as a dry cleaner. He left Owensboro and went to Rockport, Ind., where he got into trouble and was arrested for bigamy, but was released and went to Cloverport, Ky., where he again got into the clutches of the law for retaining a woman's watch, which she had loaned him to wear. One of Frazier's wives is living in Owensboro.

After being released from jail at Cloverport, nothing was heard from Frazier until he was arrested in Winchester, Ky., from which place he was sentenced to the penitentiary.—Owensboro Messenger.

Funeral of Henry D. Richardson.

The funeral of Henry D. Richardson, son of W. H. Richardson, vice president of the Peter, Neat, Richardson Drug Company, who died Saturday night at his home, 1110 South Second street, following a lingering illness of stomach trouble, was held Monday afternoon at the residence at 230 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. C. B. Smart, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, will officiate and the burial will be in the family burying ground in Cave Hill cemetery. Friends of the young man will act as pallbearers.—Courier-Journal.

Building Pretty Home.

James Bishop is completing a nice and comfortable home on Second street in Breckenridge Addition.

MRS. RHODES

Passes Away at Her Home in Hardinsburg Last Friday—Born in Virginia.

Hardinsburg, October 3.—(Special)—After six years of patient suffering from paralysis, Mrs. Cordelia Powers Rhodes, wife of Thomas Rhodes, peacefully passed from earth on Friday, September 30, at her home in Hardinsburg. Since last March she had been sinking, and she fully realized that the end was near. Here was a beautiful Christian life.

For thirty years of ideal married life, no couple had been happier than she and her devoted husband. To them were born two children neither of which is living. Mrs. Rhodes, fifty-one years of age, was born in Virginia, but from the age of four had spent her life in Hardinsburg. Her husband, who was a successful business man, was a devoted friend. She was a devoted Catholic. On Saturday afternoon, with Father Knue, of McQuady, in charge of the services, her remains were placed at rest in St. Romold's cemetery. All those who knew her well know heaven has one more title since her being called from earth.

UNUSUAL CASE NOW PENDING.

Involving Right of State Railroad Commission—Federal Court To Pass On Validity Of Chord Act.

COMMISSION LIFE AT STAKE.

"The life and existence of the Kentucky Railroad commission is hanging in the balance and depends solely on the decision of the Federal court in the action brought by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company to enjoin the commission from enforcing its orders as far as they apply to the reduction of rates."

This startling statement was made by Lawrence Finn, a member of the commission at the Kudd house last night. Mr. Finn is on his way to Sturgis in Frankfort, where he was in attendance at Federal court, as the motion to enjoin the commission came up before Judge Cochran Monday.

"If the injunction asked by the Louisville and Nashville railroad is made permanent," Mr. Finn continued, "the 'Chord Act,' which gives the commission power to hold rates extortionate and fix reasonable rates, is declared unconstitutional and the commission will be without authority."

"The particular case is that of the Greenbrier Distilling company against the railroad. The concern applied to the commission for relief from extortion on the part of the Louisville & Nashville. It has been the custom of the Louisville & Nashville to grant the Greenbrier company a rate of 10 cents and then allow it a rebate of 3 cents."

"This fact was brought to the attention of the Federal grand jury. An indictment was returned against the railroad and it was fined $10,000. This fine was assessed the railroad increased the rate to ten cents. The commission ruled, however, that a rate of seven cents was reasonable and so fixed it. When it tried to put the ruling into effect, however, the railroad got out an injunction permanent, is now pending."

"The railroad has attacked the constitutionality of the Chord Act, and thus it is the very existence of the commission is at stake. "When the case was called at Frankfort today Judge Cochran declined to act on the ground that he had already presided in the case and had formed an opinion. Judge Cochran will now notify Judge Severance, and he will designate one of the Federal judges to hear the case."

This case is of unusual interest to the people of Kentucky, and the outcome will be watched by shippers all over the state.

Mr. Finn is going to Sturgis to hear a complaint of the citizens there for a new depot.—Owensboro Messenger.

Dreams Certainly Come True.

Misses Eva and Ella May have just received their Baby Grand piano of the Baldwin make. They purchased it while in Louisville at the State Fair. It is a beautiful instrument with a rich volume of music. The Misses May are proud indeed of their piano and the possession of it is a long cherished dream come true.

The young women have worked with unflagging determination for this treasure. For several years Miss Eva has taught music and has gotten such a large class that many days she stays at the piano nine hours while her sister is busy with kindergarten work.

The sale of the piano was made for the Baldwin Co. by Mr. Hazzard whose knowledge of musical instruments is most dependable.

ANOTHER BIG ROCK CRUSHER

C. W. Davis, from Mt. Vernon, Ky., has bought 46 acres of land just above Mystic on the railroad. Mr. Davis will put a big crusher on this piece of land built twelve cottages and a big stone house and work a hundred men or more. The railroad is now putting in 600 feet of siding to accommodate Mr. Davis and his big crusher. Mystic will likely be added up to the new town,

MRS. WARD

Of Louisville, Dies In Hardinsburg—Had Been Ill Of Typhoid Fever Since July.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Oct. 3.—(Special)—Mrs. Catherine McGary Ward, of Louisville, who had been ill of typhoid fever since July 14, died Saturday morning at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Lizzie McGary, on Louisville street. Mrs. Ward, while fearing no death in her readiness to go, greatly desired to remain with her husband and two bright little children, aged two and three years. On Sunday, October 3, the fourth anniversary of her marriage, her remains were laid to rest in St. Romold's cemetery mid the scenes of her school, near the place where until her marriage and moving to Louisville, she had worshipped from infancy. Rev. Father Norman, the new pastor, officiated at the burial services.

A House of Brides.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Harvill have gone to house-keeping in the home of Mrs. English on Second and High Sts., on the East Side. Mrs. Harvill is the fourth bride to start house-keeping under Mrs. English's roof.

LITTLE INTEREST

In The Revival At The Baptist Church—Rev. Jones Makes Plain Statements

The Baptist revival has been well attended, but little interest has been manifested by the slothful church members and indifferents. The church members who have the meeting at heart are disappointed over the few results so far.

Rev. N. F. Jones who has charge of the services assisted by Rev. Farmer, has been discharging some plain talk, saying that he preached on Hell's half acre and found more interest in the work of saving souls than he has been. Services will be held the remainder of the week and strenuous efforts will be made to create a religious awakening in this city.

Weatherholt-Hamblenton.

Miss Mattie Weatherholt and Mr. Harry Hamblenton, of this city, were married in New Albany last week.

MRS. GIBBS

Dies In Louisville At Five O'clock Tuesday Morning—After Critical Illness—Funeral Tomorrow.

Mrs. Henry Gibbs died in Louisville Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's infirmary. Mrs. Gibbs had been critically ill for several weeks. Besides her husband, she leaves four children, Lucy, Fred and Aris Adams, and a two year old baby. Mrs. Gibbs was the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Ferry, of this city, who was at the bedside when death came.

The funeral will be held from the home of Mr. Fred Ferry, a brother of the deceased, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Little Baby Dies.

Francis Emma Lee, the baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wilson, died Sunday afternoon after a critical illness of a few days. The funeral was held from the home Monday morning at eleven o'clock. Rev. Brey officiated. The little one was just two years old last August. She was the baby of the family and the pet of the neighborhood.

NARROW ESCAPE

From Death Made By Pete Laslie and Milt Gilliland While Working in Gravel Pit.

The gravel pit near the Henderson Route shops on the river, caved in Saturday afternoon while Pete Laslie and Milt Gilliland were getting gravel for the city bridge. Mr. Laslie's wagon was broken to pieces, but the horses and lives of the men were saved.

Mr. and Mrs. Solbrig Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Solbrig entertained in honor of their two nieces, Miss Nannie Elder, of Dexter, Ind., and Mrs. Edith Anderson, of Louisville, and Mr. Rufus Shreve, of Louisville, last Saturday evening. Several friends were present, and all spent quite a pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs. Solbrig certainly know the art of entertaining.

TRUST OFFERS EIGHT CENTS

And Sets a Ten Cent Limit—Vice President F. R. Toewalter Says the American Will Not Bid

ON TOBACCO IN OLD POOL.

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 29.—The Winchester News tomorrow will publish a new item which will have a striking effect all over the Burley district. The truth of the facts stated is vouched for by the editor of the paper, who sent for Messrs. Rees and Scolec, who are quoted for verification of the reports. The News will say:

"Mr. F. R. Toewalter, vice president of the American Tobacco Company, was in the city Thursday and from the conversation he had with Mr. Wallace Rees and others, it does not seem that the price of the 1910 crop of tobacco will be as good as it was last year."

"In the conversation Mr. Rees stated that Mr. Toewalter said to him that the average price that his company would pay would be about eight dollars, and that it would take a fancy crop of tobacco to bring twelve dollars."

"Mr. Toewalter also stated that it was not probable that the American Tobacco Company would be a bidder for pooled crop of 1910. He said to Mr. P. Scolec that an extra crop would bring ten or twelve cents, and an average crop about eight cents."

THE CONVERSATION VERIFIED.

"The following is the exact conversation which occurred between Mr. Toewalter and Mr. Rees:

"Mr. Wallace Rees met Mr. Toewalter on the street and said to him that he had a crop of tobacco this year and asked as to what they were going to pay for it. Mr. Toewalter stated that they were willing to pay a fair price for the tobacco, but it all depended on what a man considered fifteen cents a fair price, but they considered fifteen cents a prohibitive price. Mr. Rees then asked Mr. Toewalter how about ten or twelve dollars, and Mr. Toewalter stated that it would take a fancy crop to bring it this year. He also stated that they considered the pooled crop to be the average in quality, therefore, could not state what they would bid for it; that in fact, they would probably not bid the market for that tobacco, as they were well stocked."

Offering Ten Cents For Best.

Cynthiana, Ky., Sept. 29.—Local tobacco buyers have received instructions from the Cincinnati and Louisville tobacco warehouses not to bid any tobacco at more than 10 cents per pound for the best crop, which would mean an average of about 8 cents for all the tobacco. Only a few weeks past local buyers were offering as high as 16 cents per pound for tobacco.

Mr. Wheatley Dead

James Wheatley, a native of this county, died near his home at Hardinsburg Monday. The funeral was held from the Catholic church yesterday. Mr. Wheatley was fifty years of age.

Successful Meeting.

New Bethel, Oct. 1.—(Special)—The protracted meeting which has been in progress at New Bethel, has closed with ten additions to the church by baptism, and one by relation. The services were conducted by Rev. M. J. Cox, of Owensboro, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Duggins. Mr. Cox is an able defender of the cause of Christ as well as a very fine sociable gentleman and he leaves many friends in our section who pray God's blessings upon him.

Miss Moorman to Lead.

Miss Pauline Moorman will lead the Epworth League next Sunday evening. Services will be held at seven o'clock promptly, and a large attendance is expected.

CHANGES MADE IN LOCAL PULPITS.

Appointments Are Made By Methodist Conference at Russellville—Rev. Dillon Goes to Greenville.

Mr. Ford Better.

Preston Ford, who had his foot operated on by Dr. McDonald last week, is convalescent, and will be back to work soon.

KICKS THE POST

While Visiting Friends in St. Rose Court, Hon. Ben Johnson Gives the Kicking Post Two Fierce Kicks.

While the Hon. Ben Johnson was in the city last week he called to see Mrs. Rev. Boone, formerly of his home place, and the Rev. Celestine Bray. After his departure from these homes Mr. Johnson said, with the coyness of a country chaper in the city, "There is another pleasure I should like to have while I am in Cloverport." The representative of the News, whose curiosity was aroused, inquired quickly, "What you want to give the Post a kick?" Mr. Johnson was standing right in the shadow of Cloverport's noted Kicking Post, and one could easily guess his desire.

"I want to kick it once for my luck to Congress, and once for the Governor's chair," replied Mr. Johnson. For a wonder, the Kicking Post is still standing as straight as if it were nailed to a straight edge. "That's a wonderful post," said Mr. Johnson, "far better than Ireland's blarney stone."

STORIES WRITTEN

While The Press Thunders

BY LOUISE

Occasionally the News receives some very interesting letters about visits and trips made by our fortunate friends, and last week we were honored with one from our Chicago reader, whom John Babbage, Jr., would call "a type magnate". He is connected with one of the largest type manufacturers in the world, Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, that has supplied nearly every print shop and newspaper office in Kentucky with Superior Copper Mixed Type.

To read what he says about his recent visit to the great west is genuine pleasure, and reminds us of what a country chap, who was going to school here one winter, said to Kate Moorman when a dollar excursion was advertised to Louisville. "Miss Kate, he asked, ain't you a goin' to the city Sunday? The ride ain't worth a dollar." Thus it must have been with our friend, his long journey under the western skies, surely, equalled the cost.

In part his letter is as follows:

"I have just returned from a three weeks' visit to the land of wonders, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon and the Canadian Pacific with the grand Rocky Mountain scenery. It is a view of our country which must make all Americans proud; the extent, the variety, the grandeur of the scenery, and of all the magnificent views, none quite equal the view which I had the day I visited the Grand Canon. I wished, as I looked at it, that Milton might be there to describe it; no minor bard could do it justice. Take the trip some day; do not miss it.

Rebut Francisco Wonder!

Passing from the great crop-producing section of Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, through the beautiful scenery of Colorado, up to the splendor of the Canon, through the alkaline desert, down to the paradise of San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles and Pasadena, along the coast of the mighty Pacific, passing its rock-bound Coast to the wonder of the ages, rebuilt San Francisco with its harbor in which all the war fleets of the world might maneuver without interfering with each other, north again through the fertile, irrigated, fruit-producing region of Northern California, Oregon and Washington, passing mighty Shasta and tip-top Rarer into the equable climate of Seattle, where roses grow the year around in the open air in gorgeous profusion, through a succession of mountain panoramas, down through the mile-long wheat fields of Saskatchewan and North Dakota into the Twin Cities and back to dusty, hustling Chicago, makes one gasp with wonder, love and pride.

It is not so difficult to make the trip, nor so expensive as one imagines. I suppose that the amount your people spent in entertaining the Masonic Barbecue visitors would pretty nearly pay the bill."

The Horse's Prayer

To thee my master, I offer my prayer: Feed me, water and care for me, and, when the days work is done, provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort.

Always be kind to me. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Put me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand you. Watch me and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

Do not check me so that I cannot have the free use of my head. If you insist that I wear blinkers so that I cannot see behind me as I am intended I should, I pray you, be careful that the blinkers stand well cut from my eyes.

Do not overload me or beat me, where I do not sleep on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth and that, you know is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position or take away my best defense against flies and in equine by cutting off my tail.

I cannot tell you when I am thirsty, so give me clean cool water often. Save me by all means in your power, from that fatal disease—the glanders. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, that by signs you may know my condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun, and, a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing still in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth; first warm it by holding it in your hands.

I try to carry you and your burdens without a murmur and wait patiently for you long hours of the day or night. Without the power to choose my shoes or path, I sometimes fall on the hard pavements, which have often pricked might not be of wood, but of such a nature as to give me a safe and sure footing. Remember that I must be ready at any moment to lose my life in your service.

And finally, O my master, when useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner, to be slowly tortured or starved to death; but do this, my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen.—Our Dumb Animals.

ROAD DRAINAGE.

Necessity of Replacing Plank Culverts With Proper Pipes.

Pennsylvania's state Highway commissioner gives the following advice on the question of road drainage:

"Where water must be diverted from one side to the other of a road it should be carried beneath the surface by means of pipes or culverts of capacity adequate to carry the maximum amount of water which ever will be carried. It is not suitable material when properly laid cost little or nothing to maintain beyond an occasional cleaning out. Water breaks require constant attention and are frequently inadequate to prevent the flood water from overflowing down the surface of the road. They are also serious obstacles to travel, increasing very materially the steepness of the hills where they are used and making necessary the building of proportionately smaller bridges.

"In the majority of the townships in which any attempt is made to carry water across below instead of above the road surface it is done by means of plank culverts, usually constructed in the most primitive manner, while the large water courses are spanned by structures consisting in part, if not wholly, of wood. In some instances stone has been used in a very commendable manner, but it is found that many of the bridges, culverts and drains which have been built of stone have been laid up in an inefficient manner, which has led in a few years to the necessity of expensive repairs.

For the smaller culverts and drains in which smoothness of interior surface is desirable four kinds of pipe are available—vitruled clay, cast iron, corrugated iron and concrete. The use of wood for such purposes is to be discouraged, and all existing plank culverts should be replaced by some other material as rapidly as practicable. Vitruled clay pipes are much cheaper than iron, but unless very carefully protected are very liable to breakage. Except in rare cases this material is not recommended by the department."

To Show Their Work.

The O. T. Newell company of Birmingham, Ala., has been given permission by the board of revenue of that county to build at its own expense a mile of improved road between the villages of Powderly and Bessemer. The road is to be completed before the meeting of the Alabama road road convention next in the fall. It is understood that the company is taking this action to bring to the attention of the road builders association the road and industry which it manufactures.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

O. Henry Was a Shade Smarter Than the Magazine Man.

A friend of the late O. Henry writes of him: "He was reckless in spending money and frequently gave elevator boys and bellboys five and ten dollar notes. But he wasn't 'easy' despite his financial recklessness."

"His friends recently narrated an incident showing the man's shrewdness. A magazine noted for 'show pay,' they said, contracted with him for a three-part story for which he was to receive $1,500. He got $200 advance before starting to work and when he turned in the second installment none of it had been paid yet got $500 more and asked for the third $500 as an advance before finishing the tale."

"The editor in an effort to save money apparently declared that, after all, the story didn't appear to be worth more than $1,000—this when he had the two installments in his office."

"All right," said O. Henry, "I won't write the third one then." And he departed. He laughed at the editor.

"Well, then," said the latter, "I'll run the two parts and then let our readers have a guessing contest as to how the story ends—and put up, perhaps, a $500 prize to the winner."

"For a moment the author thought he was outwitted. Then he said: 'Go ahead, and I'll win the prize.' He intended to win it too!"—Boston Herald.

HON. BEN JOHNSON

OUR NEW PARSON:

We do not know the Rev. Mr. Lewis, who has been appointed to take charge of the Cloverport Methodist pastorate that has been so conscientiously served by Rev. German P. Dillon during the last year. However, from the remarks made by the young women of the church Monday night, we think he must be unattached. One of the girls said that she felt her religion coming on; another declared that she intended to join everything in the church from the Cradle Roll to the Board of Stewards; another has suddenly become ambitious to be president of the Missionary Society, and another to lead the church choir—though her voice is a weak alto. A meek little maid wished with all her heart that Rev. Lewis is as ugly as home-made sin so she would not be tempted by Cupid, for ever since she was sprinkled, she has had a fear of marrying a Methodist parson. Even the widows are lifting their veils. Monday one was brave enough to confess that she really had an intuition that this preacher was her "consoling friend." Just watch the girls run to the Kicking Post next Sunday. It will be hard on hobbie skirts.

Seriously, laying aside all jokes about our new preacher—for he might be engaged—we trust that he will have courage and backbone enough to take up the good work that Rev. Mr. Dillon has just begun in the church here. Mr. Dillon inaugurated the real, true and best system of raising funds for the church, which if it had been practiced by all the members as well as it was by some, would have been a perfectly gratifying success. We feel that Rev. Dillon's stay in Cloverport was for our own good, and in return for the help that he gave us, we extend to him and Mrs. Dillon wishes, the very best that we can make.

There is a lot of improvement going on down at the shops. They are as busy as bees getting ready for winter quarters and making it comfortable for the men to work during the cold, bleak days of winter. President Irwin has a kindly feeling for his men and he wants to make their surroundings as pleasant as possible. After the 15th of this month all the section men on the road will be paid weekly in cash, doing away with the old system of having the men wait a month or more for their pay. This is an innovation in the matter of paying railroad men. Mr. Irwin said he wants to get all of his men paid by the 10th of every month, and is working to this end as fast as he can.

One hundred thousand dollars worth of ties and a million and a half feet of timber is just two items of the Henderson Route's purchases this year. Nearly all of the ties and seventy-five per cent. of the timber was purchased right here in Breckenridge county. When you take into consideration that eighty per cent. of the employees on this road are from this county, also it is safe to say that the railroad pays more money to the county than it gets out of it, you can understand then that the railroad is the best friend Cloverport and Breckenridge county ever had.

Gather and burn the rubbish. Farm Journal.

Col. Bert Cunningham, one of the best and most successful farmers in this county, says he never burns a thing on his place. All the waste, leaves and grass he puts in his compost pile, and all the rubbish and brush he throws in the gullies and on all the thin places to gather moisture and give the grass a chance to grow. He turns back everything to the soil that he can. "Never burn," is his motto.

The 12th day of this month will be a general holiday in Kentucky, being the anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Not many of us remember Christopher or what he had to do with opening up the soil of this old Commonwealth, but we are most always ready to celebrate.

There are seven or eight farmers with their families in the Louisville neighborhood planning to go to California. They will find when they get there that all is not gold that glitters. They will also find that they have left the best State and the best county in the Union.

They say now is a good time to select seed corn. Go into the field, pick out all the best stalks, tie a string around them and let them stand until fully matured, and then take good care of them. It pays to do this. Good seed is the foundation for a good crop.

The Democrats should have a thorough organization of the party in this county between now and the November election. By this means we can help to swell the majority for our candidate for Congress and also for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

In every crowd we go into we find Ben Johnson leading by a large majority for Congress and for the Democratic nomination for Governor. No man in the public eye stands higher in Breckenridge county than does Mr. Johnson.

The negroes in Louisville have declared publicly that they will not support the Republican ticket there this year. This sounds more like a scheme to get money than anything else. Very few negroes in this State vote the Democratic ticket.

A cow in Missouri has given 21,038 pounds of milk in eight months, and a one day record was 110.2 pounds. This cow is training for the world's championship.

The best crops of tobacco in this county are the two and three acre crops. Three acres well cultivated will bring as much as six acres half way worked.

The Democrats have a thorough organization in the State this year, and there will be a sweep for the ticket in many Congressional districts.

In our garden we are turning under all the weeds and grass and sowing it in rye to turn under next spring for potatoes and early corn.

Ben Johnson is a helpful man, and a helpful man is a safe man any where you place him.

Work on the bridge is progressing nicely. With good weather it will soon be completed.

Proving His Authority.
 There was an Irish foreman of a gang of laborers who went to any lengths to show his men that he was the real boss. One morning this foreman found his men going and put a bander on the track without his orders.
 "Who put that bander on the track?" he asked.
 "We did, sir," one of the men answered respectfully.
 "Well," he said shortly, "take it off again!"
 The laborers did so with some difficulty.
 "Now," said the foreman, "put it on again!"
Great Scheme.
 "What do you do," asked the one who had been married only a few months, "about your husband coming home late at night?"
 "I pretend not to notice that it's late, and pretty soon he asks me if I wouldn't like to go to the theater with someone tomorrow afternoon."
Startling Encouragement.
 "Was Amelia's father encouraging when you went to him to ask him for her hand?"
 "Not very. He asked me to put the proposal in writing, so I couldn't back out, as all the others did."

HERE'S A GOOD CHILD STORY

One Which Comes From the Family of a Boston Educator and Has Unusual Originality.

Perhaps the most startling child story extant, however, comes from the family of a famous Boston educator, whose children are distinguished by an unusual degree of originality. Several boys and girls of various ages have been adopted into this family, so the sudden appearance of new and well-known associates seems to the younger members quite natural. This rather unusual attitude toward family growth worked out oddly a year or two ago, upon the occasion of the Christmas play, when the little ones annually write, rehearse and produce, quite without adult assistance, for their parents.

The plot of the play included the financial redemption of a highly worthy couple—this being an extremely cultured and sociologically learned yet natural group of youngsters—by the good luck of the husband, played by an eager urchin of seven, in the gold fields of Alaska. The happy bridegroom returned to his weeping bride of a year in the nick of time, bearing with him a huge and heavy bag of gold. The bride, in a neat apron, revealed to him the poverty-stricken, hungry straits to which she had been reduced, and warmly commended his skill and industry in gold finding. Then, rising with a proud and modest air, she gently informed him: "And I, meanwhile, have not been idle"—and, drawing a convenient curtain, disclosed an assorted group of laughing boys and girls as "Our children, dear."

The audience, not unnaturally, rocked with helpless laughter, but those dear little lais and lasses still are wondering why.

VALUE OF PROPERTY RIGHTS

How One Small Boy Was Cured of Destructive Propensities by a Lasting Lesson.

Small boys are very apt to fail to recognize the value of their property. My small son, in company with a playmate, in a game used the lights in a neighbor's henhouse for a target. The owner of the henhouse promptly visited both homes, where the culprits hid in dismay, and collected damages. There was a valuable opportunity for a lasting lesson. I called my boy to me, and we talked the matter over, he having full chance to explain his side of the case. Then the mischief he had wrought and the reputation it would give him were gravely discussed.

He voluntarily offered to refund the amount of his part of the damage out of his small savings until full restitution was made. This was finally agreed upon, and he came the hard part for the boy. His pocket money allowance was 25 cents a week, and he frequently relined by friends for etiquette or duty. It took him seven weeks to get out of debt.

When the last cent was paid, he gave a sigh of relief and said: "There, I'll never destroy anything again as long as I live."—Harvey's Razor.

His Opportunity.

"You never saw a man more delighted than Flutberly last night."

"What's the cause?"

"He's going to get a public hearing for his poems at last."

"In print?"

"Not exactly. He's been sued for breach of promise, and all his poems are to be read in open court."

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Galena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after this was soreness in my right side. In a short time a lump came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. I kept growing larger and by fall it was as big as a watermelon. I could not get to bed without applying to that side. I had then come back when they thought the evil spirit had departed.

Deserted Their Towns.

So late as the end of the seventeenth century the inhabitants of Cayo were in the habit of deserting their towns. Their customs are described in the narrative of Captain Robert Knox, who for nineteen years, from 1690 to 1679, was a captive among them. He speaks of several towns as being deserted owing to the fact that their inhabitants had forsaken them. This they did for many of them fell sick, and two or three died soon after one another, thinking that it was a visitation of the evil one. Some of them came back when they thought the evil spirit had departed.

A MAGIC CLUB.

Curious Dances Used by the Native Fishermen of Hawaii.

"Lau melomelo" is the name of a dance used by the native fishermen of Hawaii. It is made of the hardest wood to be found on the islands and is carved and rubbed till it assumes the shape of a club with a little knob at the smaller end, to which the line is tied.

The club is from one to three feet long. A villager performs certain rites over it over a sacred fire. After this is done the club is magic, and the fishermen must be extremely careful of it. If a woman should step over it or enter a canoe in which it lies the club would lose all its power and be useless ever after.

After the club has been charmed the fishermen mix coconut and coconut meat, takes it and ties the mixture in a wrapper of coconut fiber.

At the fishing grounds the club is covered with the city juice of the state and is then lowered carefully to the bottom. The scent of the baked nut meat attracts certain kinds of fish, which soon gather and begin to nibble at the club. As soon as enough fish are around the decoy a small bag shaped net is lowered very gently until its mouth is just over the club. The line is then pulled up carefully and cunningly till it is within the bag. The fish are so eager for the stuff with which the club is covered that they follow it into the net without fear. As soon as all the fish are in it a fisherman dives and closes the mouth of the net, whereupon the rest haul it up quickly.

THE MIDDLE AGED MAN.

Finding Happiness in a Life That to Youth is Irksome.

"Younger people," said the middle aged man, "want variety. They want to be always on the go. Routine galls them. They hate to have to do the same thing over and over and over again day after day."

"They want to go somewhere or do something different all the time. Other people are happiest in a life of routine, most disturbed when variety is thrust upon them."

"For myself I welcome my daily task, endlessly repeated and always the same. I should be lost without it; I should feel it were changed. I like to be always on the go. Routine galls them. They hate to have to do the same thing over and over and over again day after day."

"Nor do I want much outside pleasure. In fact, I think I should be best suited with none. I like my groove. It fits me, and I fit it. I don't want change. I just want to be left alone to work in my accustomed way. It is in my groove that I am most comfortable. I like a life of labor and routine."

"And could there come to you a greater blessing? Nature and the customs of men enforce routine upon us whether we like it or not. In youth this is true, but in our mature years it is a life of routine. In the undisturbed enjoyment of familiar labor, we may find our greatest happiness."—New York Sun.

The One to Pay.

When she was Lady Randolph Churchill, Mrs. Corcoran West consented to electioneer for Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett in his first parliamentary campaign. Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett, who quarreled with the Harcourt-Burdett family, was a very rich woman, who was nearly forty years his senior. Lady Randolph, with her beauty and charms, did splendid work for the candidate.

To a group of farmers she said one day:

"Won't you promise me to vote for Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett?"

"My lady," said a red faced farmer, with a chuckle, "we'll all vote for him if your vote'll be paid for with a kiss."

"Thank you very much," said Lady Randolph. "Your offer is accepted. I'll send for the Harcourt-Burdett Counts at once."

Deserted Their Towns.

So late as the end of the seventeenth century the inhabitants of Cayo were in the habit of deserting their towns. Their customs are described in the narrative of Captain Robert Knox, who for nineteen years, from 1690 to 1679, was a captive among them. He speaks of several towns as being deserted owing to the fact that their inhabitants had forsaken them. This they did for many of them fell sick, and two or three died soon after one another, thinking that it was a visitation of the evil one. Some of them came back when they thought the evil spirit had departed.

A Queer Creature.

Queer that while the male seal is a bull and the female a cow their youngsters are not called a calf, but a pup. Why "seal fisheries," too, when the seal is not a fish?

And why should the seal's breeding place be styled a rookery?

It looks as if this strange creature is only a fish in common parlance while at sea. On land for he is classed popularly with animals or birds.—Exchange.

Gratitude.

Kind Lady—My poor man, what would you do with the money if I gave you a penny? Tired Hob—Adam, I'd buy a picture of me and give it to a poor fellow who was a lot better than I was.

To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.—Campbell.

"Sure Cure"

"I would like to guide suffering women to a sure cure for female troubles," writes Mrs. R. E. Mercer, of Frozen Camp, W. Va. "I have found no medicine equal to Cardui. I had suffered for about four years. Would have headache for a week at a time, until I would be nearly crazy. I took Cardui and now I never have the headache any more."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The pains from which many women suffer every month are unnecessary. It's not safe to trust to strong drugs, right at the time of the pains.

Better to take Cardui for a while, before and after, to strengthen the system and cure the cause. This is the sensible, scientific, right way. Try it.

ADAM'S PEAK.

A Shrine Sacred to Three Conflicting Religious Sects.

Throughout Asia "holy places" are almost as numerous as leaves on a tree, but in Ceylon is a mountain which enjoys the unique distinction of being a very holy place to the devotees of three absolutely distinct and conflicting religious sects. This is Adam's Peak, or Sumanu.

According to the Mohammedan belief, Adam, after the fall, was taken in an eagle to the top of Sumanu, and a panorama of all the ills that through sin should afflict mankind was shown out before him. His feet left an imprint on the solid rock, and his tears formed the lake from which pilgrims still drink. The Buddhists maintain that it was not Adam, but Buddha himself that made the foot print in the rock, that being the last spot where he touched the earth before ascending to heaven, while the Christians are still under the legend. All, however, Brahmins, Mohammedans and Christians, agree that Sumanu is a very holy place, and to perform a pilgrimage to the peak is the Buddhist's highest duty.

It requires a little faith and some imagination to trace in the depression in the rock the likeness of a human footprint. It is 54 feet long by 24 feet wide, on the top of a huge boulder. The natives, however, insist that it is the footprint of Adam. Edmund Campbell Hall in Chesham Commemorative Tribune.

THE COTTON GIN.

Whitney Got the Idea From the Work of an Old Negro.

El Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, got the germ of his great idea from seeing through the interstices of a but an old negro work a hand saw among the freshly picked cotton stored within.

The teeth of the saw tore the lint from the seed easily and quickly, and young Whitney was inspired by the sight at the time realized at once that a machine working a number of similar teeth would be able to separate the lint from the seed.

He said nothing to anybody, but set to work building models and experimenting. His difficulties were enormous, for not only had to make his own wheels, gears, etc., but he had also to manufacture the parts whereafter to color his many plans and drawings.

But he succeeded in the end, and though the outbreak of war and other hindrances prevented the invention from being actually placed upon the market until many years afterward, the first complete cotton gin ever constructed was built from those very models and plans and with scarcely a single alteration.

One Conclusion.

During the time he acted as United States consul in Glasgow Bret Harle occasionally indulged in day's sport with the gun, and it was during one of his shooting excursions that the humorist met with an accident which might have disfigured him for the remainder of his life. His face being badly cut through the recoil of an overloaded gun. Fortunately the doctor's skill prevented him from being permanently marked.

Writing about the occurrence to his friend, T. Edgar Pemberton, who quotes the letter in his "Tribuna to maintain the novelist concludes his letter by telling of an amusing effort which was made to console him on account of the accident.

"When the surgeon was stitching me together," he wrote, "the son of the house, a boy of twelve, came timidly to the door of my room.

"Tell me, Bret Harle, it's all right; he said, 'He killed the hare.'"

MINIATURE GARDENS.

A Male's Nest.

Among common animals few have been less studied in their life history than the mole. Mr. Lionel B. Adams says that under the "fortress" which the mole constructs above the surface of the ground will always be found a series of tunnels running out beneath the adjacent field. A curious feature almost invariably found in a perpendicular run penetrating about a foot below the bottom of the nest and then turning upward to meet another run. A mole is never found in his nest, at least in any yet he warm from his body when opened. Guided by smell and hearing, a mole frequently locates the nest of a prairie dog or beaver above his run and, penetrating it from below, eats the eggs. The adult mole is practically blind, but there are embryonic indications that the power of sight in the race has deteriorated.

One such garden shows a lake four feet long and full of goldfish. On the border stands a pine tree exactly eighteen inches high and fifty years old. Beneath its shade is a temple carved out of one piece of stone the size of a brick. On a lofty crag of some two and a half feet stands a fine maple tree, perfect in form and shape, often years old and twelve inches high.

One household in Japan boasts of a complete garden contained in a shell two inches long and one inch wide. The garden is complete down to the last inch square, and the footbridge over the water courses. Ten houses there are and numerous trees of various kinds, each about six inches in height. As the hills are these miniature trees, but full of vitality, and yet never growing bigger.—New York Press.

Mixed the Squeak.

Some persons like one sort of shoe and some another, but the kind which was desired by Pierre, the French Canadian mill hand, has never enjoyed a wide popularity.

"Shoes for Sunday," Pierre stated to the young man who advanced to meet him as he entered the saleroom of the shoe store.

He then sat heavily down on one of the red plush seats and allowed the salesman to insert his feet in a pair of bright yellow shoes. When they were fairly on, Pierre stood, moved his feet this way and that, took a few steps and, shaking his head, sat down again.

"What's the matter?" asked the clerk. "Do they hurt you? Are they too tight?"

Pierre shook his head violently. "No, no tight," he said, "but also no talk. Shoes for Sunday must talk, talk, all the way up in church for a man's stylish, see?"—Youth's Companion.

CARDS FOR TABLE

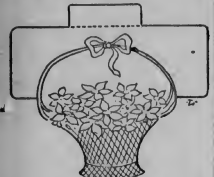

They Give Each Guest His Place at the Board.

VERY EFFECTIVE DESIGNS.

Suggestions For a Bride's Farewell Luncheon—Pin Money May Be Made by Using One's Skill in Making Dainty Place Cards.

Dinner cards or place cards are just as much a part of the table decorations now as the flowers on the table. They are modern institutions, but answer the purpose admirably, giving each guest his place in a delightful way and disposing of the diners according to a prearranged plan of the hostess.

The sketches given are suggestions for little place cards, which can be drawn through carbon paper upon white cardstock and inked in. The outlines are arranged so that the designs are a continuation of the card upon which you will write the name of each guest. Any dotted lines indicate that the cardstock should be bent at that place.

When the additional strip at the top is placed at the top of a hanging card, the result, to be suspended from the rim of a glass at the table.

Colors need not be strictly true to nature, the selection of shades depending largely upon the color scheme of the table decorations. The daisy wreath is quite effective when merely outlined in ink, with the yellow centers and green hands turning through. This flower can be turned into a ragged robin with a few strokes of your brush dipped in blue paint, or pink aster if you prefer.

For the farewell luncheon of a bride a heart shaped card is appropriate decorated with a spray of lilies touching at one side. The intervening space need not be cut out, for the white card on the tablecloth is not noticeable. The leaves should be colored a pale green and the delicate bells just outlined with black and tinted yellow.

A hanging basket for the dinner table is shown with the upper extension, which should be bent over and used

Do not forget the names, of course. But suppose that you do not give diners or luncheon? Well, did it ever strike you of the fact that only one or two people do? Lawyer-Better just send him a large bill for storage—Life, or any other kind?

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Cloverport Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Cloverport citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Cloverport by Doan's Kidney Pills.

George F. Megeley, River street, Cloverport, Ky., says: "For three months I was unable to do any work on account of my kidneys being disordered. The passages of the kidney secretions were painful and my feet became so badly swollen that I was unable to wear my shoes. There was a dull ache in the small of my back, which extended into my head and although I tried a number of remedies, I was unable to find relief. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills came to my attention and I procured a supply. I used them according to directions and in six weeks I was entirely free from kidney trouble. I attribute my robust health today solely to the curative powers of Doan's Kidney Pills."

ARSENIC POISONING.

The Torture That Ensnues Before Death Brings Relief.

When a single dose of arsenic in sufficient quantity to be felt has been taken, colicky pains, bowel disorder and perhaps nervous result. In the course of an hour after a poisonous dose has been taken an intense burning pain is felt in the epigastrium and stomach. This spreads to the entire anterior portion of the lower part of the trunk. A sense of constriction at the throat and an acid, metallic taste accompany the pain. Then vomiting and relaxation of the bowels begin. As the case progresses the symptoms increase in intensity. Then comes a thirst that water will not allay, although it apparently increases the stomach disturbance. The victim grows restless and restless.

Now he implores the doctor to save him. Then he begs to be killed and put out of pain. The extraneous comes in the form of a small, feeble and frequent, and the breathing is labored, embarrassed and painful because of abdominal tenderness. The surface of the body becomes dark and of that bluish color that medical men call cyanosis. Violent cramps add their tortures, exhaustion becomes collapse, convulsions or coma ensues, and death ends the agony. The torture lasts sometimes from five to twenty hours.

In some cases these symptoms occur, but in a modified form, and the doctor will apparently get the better of the disease. The remission will be but for a day or two. Then the abdomen will swell, and icy coldness will pervade the frame. Suffering will become pronounced trembling, then cramps, convulsions and death.

THE EASIEST WAY

Households Managed With Slight Expenditure of Physical Effort.

SIT DOWN TO YOUR WORK.

Society a Highly Organized Game For Amusing Husbands—An Interrupted Beach Party—Crested Spreads Revived.

Dear Elsie—I am going to preach, and the sermon is meant to do you a whole heap of good. Won't you bite it? However, you're going to get it this time, and the text is "The Easiest Way." It has nothing to do with the play which had such a successful run last winter and which some people found "perfectly horrid" and others considered a "fine object lesson." No, my easiest way has to do with housework.

Look about you, my dear, at housekeepers and see how few know how to take care of themselves. How many women sit down to dry dishes? How many sit down to peel potatoes? How many sit down to beat eggs? Not one in fifty.

Of course there are some kinds of work you can't do sitting down. You can turn a bread mixer while you are sitting down, but you can't knead bread unless you stand up to it. You can't do washing seated, though you can have a high chair and press off some small pieces on the ironing board. You have to stand while you are doing some kinds of cooking; also you have to be on your feet while you are sweeping and dusting and mending beds, and the like.

But how many women have had the wit to stifle out what work they can do while seated and then live up to the discoveries? It would be awfully interesting to make a canvass of the question.

But the most discouraging part about the investigation would probably be that it would show how few women have brains enough to run their own business at least expenditure of effort in proportion to the result gained.

Now, dear, of course I've not knocked. But think it over—this sitting down at work question.

The Foxey Up to Date Girl.

To change the subject suddenly, I was so disgusted by a remark made by a girl recently, who, being asked to meet a man, flippantly inquired, "Bachelor, widower or husband?" This very direct method was a new one to me, but I reckon I'm something of a lack number, for it seems quite the thing for the up to date girl to list men according to their eligibility for marriage. There are girls who quite without realizing it always mention a man's state as to matrimony when speaking of him. "I was taken to dinner by Mr. May, a charming bachelor," this type of girl remarks airily. "I got with Mr. Gray. Interesting? Oh, yes, but he's married." Or she had an invitation to supper with Mr. Jenks, such a delightful young widower and rich, they say."

Mr. May may be a poet, Mr. Gray an inventor, Mr. Jenks a wrecker of other men's fortunes, or a change, but she doesn't know or care.

A girl of this type got a well deserved rebuke from Mrs. Van K. the other day. Mrs. Van K. asked the girl to dinner and mentioned that Mr. Seabrook was coming.

"My dear," she drawled, "why didn't you ask him? You know I don't marry a man of his age."

"I'm not asking you to marry him," she said, "I'm only asking you to eat a very good dinner."

Girls of this class have a wonderful propensity for seeing sentiment in the simplest intentions of a man.

Which is why the girl who is out for a good time and can golf, dance or flirt without a thought of anything further is so refreshing to a man. Society may be a highly organized game for catching husbands, but men like girls who don't view it that way.

An Unexpected Interruption.

Don't you love a marshmallow roast? I know you do, especially on a moonlight night on the beach. We had such a party at Belle Harbor recently, and a dandy big blaze was started with seasoned driftwood that we had been saving for several days. Each one of the party was given a long potato stick on which to spike the marshmallows and roast them in the flames.

We were all browning our candles, singing merrily and jolly, when one of the vendetta type noiselessly approached and asked Dorothy if she had lost "these," holding up at the same time a perfectly new set of false teeth. You can imagine the effect of such a tableau. Elmer went off into hysterics, Helen looked scared to death.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress. Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off. The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off. The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED.

Mrs. M. E. Addison, who spent the summer here with friends and relatives, has returned to Stephensport accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. Frank E. Haven.

Mrs. Herbert Beard left last week for a visit to Mrs. S. A. Pate at Hopkinsville.

County Court Clerk Herbert Beard was in Paducah Friday and Saturday attending the annual meeting of the County Court Clerks of Kentucky.

Miss Lillian Beard, after an illness of seven since August 19, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Marvin D. Beard is visiting her sister, Mrs. K. B. English, of Owensboro.

Marriage licenses: Willie Basham and Maderia Roberts; J. Q. Allen and Lola Dugan; Herman Vertrees and Hallie Strubling.

At a meeting last week the Town Council decided upon the immediate construction of one-half mile more of concrete sidewalks. With a mile and a half of first-class concrete walks this autumn, the county will be making her paths straight and easy for the pedestrian.

A literary society has been organized by the high school and eighth grade students. Soon the friends of the school will be welcomed on Friday afternoons at their exercises.

Attorneys John P. Hawwell and Claude Mercer were attending court at Brandenburg last week.

J. Q. Allen and Miss Lillie Hagan.

both of Falls of Rough, were married in the County Court Clerk's office Thursday. Dr. E. L. Shepherd officiating.

The county jail is empty. The last prisoner was discharged over a week ago.

Circuit Court begins next Monday with a goodly number of new cases on docket, there being 65 appearances. The railroad cases are the ones of greatest interest. The suit of Engineer Charles Chamberlain, who was hurt at Askins more than a year ago for $25,000 damages, is for the greatest amount. It is not yet known what special judge will be appointed by Gov. Wilson. Judge Chelf, who is at Hot Springs, will be unable to preside.

Milt Miller is preparing to move to his farm in the Forks of Rough near Burdick.

Rev. N. A. Palmer, of the Anti-Saloon League, made excellent addresses to appreciative audiences here Sunday.

The colored people of Hardinsburg are busy raising $500 for the erection of a parsonage for their pastor. They have about half the money raised.

Mrs. and Mrs. G. W. Beard returned from Russellville Sunday.

Rev. Whitely's preaching day for Hardinsburg has been changed. He will henceforth preach on the fourth Sundays. On the third Monday in November before his first preaching on the fourth Sunday a series of meetings will begin in his church.

Mrs. and Mrs. Leslie Walker are in Louisville for a few days.

Mrs. and Mrs. H. C. Norton and child, of Plainville, Ind., arrived last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. John D. Beeler, of Kirk, and friends here.

Father Norman, of Louisville, arrived Saturday to take charge of St. Romuald's church.

Joe Trent, of Custer, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Miss Ella Ahl is visiting friends at Custer this week.
Miss Brown, of Brandenburg, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Willett.
Hon. Ben Johnson and Judge Settle will be here Monday, the first day of court, and will address the people.

Notice To The Tobacco Growers

Tobacco growers of Breckenridge: I am just from a county meeting held at Garfield by the F. E. C. U. of A. farmers of this county. A large crowd was present, and plenty to eat on the grounds. We had as good a meeting as I ever attended. Everything went off nicely, and every one very attentive to business.

We have a county union and about fifteen locals in the county that will pool two million pounds of Burley and red tobacco this year, and voted for the non-union tobacco growers to pool with us this year.

Now, if you people will pool with us this time, we will have the greatest victory in selling than ever before. Farmers, wake up; don't be contented with the belief that the leaders will carry you through, but put your shoulders to the wheel and push, for they can not do anything without your aid.

Brother farmers, get busy! Every farmer knows what dumping means. It means to pull yourself down and the union with you. So it is to every farmer's interest in the county to stand by one another. You may have every inducement to sell your tobacco, but keep an eye to business, stick the closer. Don't get scared, but stand firm. Did you ever think about everything you buy, how high it is, and who makes it so high? Why, the men who are interested in their own pocket.

Now are the farmers going to sit down on a stool of do nothing and wait for those men to advance the price on what they raise? If they do, they will be sitting there when Gabriel blows his trumpet.

I would like for some one from every school district in the county to write to W. T. Gregory, county secretary, at Garfield, and get blanks for pooling. Don't wait for some one to do the work for you, but do it yourself, or you can write me at Kirk and I will get them for you and send them to you. Every one that sends for pooling blanks will be furnished the price made by the county union by asking for them when sending for blanks.

I have just received a letter from Mr. Barnett, State Secretary. He attended a meeting at Charlotte, N. C., where twenty State organizations were represented. So you see the farmers are up and doing. We want every farmer that has an interest at heart for himself and family to be with the Farmers' Union this year. Remember W. T. Gregory at Garfield, will furnish you blanks for pooling by writing him.

Milton Tate, Kirk, Ky.

Bruner is Sued on Libel Charge.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 29.—As the result of his refusal to grant a charter to Lynn Grove State Bank and the attendant correspondence, Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner has been sued in the Callaway Circuit Court for $10,000 damages for alleged libel by F. J. Rice, of the Bank Construction and Supply Company, of Louisville. Rice alleges that Bruner accused him in letters to prominent people of Callaway county of padding and forging and other violations of the State banking laws, all of which accusations are false, malicious and calculated to damage his reputation and ruin his business.

The company which Rice represents constructed the building for the Lynn Grove Bank and sold the supplies. There a charter was refused by Bruner. Some people are interested in the venture, and it is said they will institute proceedings in mandamus to compel Secretary of State to issue a charter.

Mr. Tague Just Miles.

Possibly no man in Cloverport has been asked more questions in the last ten days than James Tague, manager of the Gas Company. Nearly every day the gas has been turned off on the East side on account of the work on the bridge, and the residents are always asking Mr. Tague, "When will we get the gas?" He never loses patience, although, one woman said to him Wednesday, "You turn the gas off the wrong time, we need it for dinner more than any other time." Mr. Tague just smiled back at her for he has not been in the gas business thirty years for nothing.

Working in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Georgia in the gas and oil fields has given Mr. Tague valuable knowledge and experience, and he knows how to operate the convenient fuel in a satisfactory way for the people of this city.

Died At Hawesville

Last Friday night three deaths occurred in Hawesville. They were Dr. J. H. Heavrin, Wm. Goering, Sr., and a little six-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Givens.

Enjoying Their Age.

J. F. Owen, age seventy-seven, of Glen Dean; Mr. and Mrs. L. Moorman, of Leitchfield, ages seventy-eight and seventy-five respectively; and Richard Alrey, age eighty-six, are all enjoying that crown of glory-old age. Mr. and Mrs. Moorman have seven children, all grown and married, and twenty grand children. Mr. Alrey says that work hard, honest labor is the secret of long years.

Sixty-One Years Difference.

Miss Rebecca Brasher Younger celebrated her first birthday at the home of her uncle, Mr. C. M. McGlothlin, who celebrated his sixty-second birthday, Sunday. Mrs. James Younger and his older daughter, Eudora, and Mrs. Lucy Younger, went to West Point for the occasion. The little baby's aunt, Mrs. McGlothlin, who has been very ill all summer, suffering from rheumatism, is little improved, and Rebecca has been under care of her adopted aunt, Miss Minnie Hoyles, who is devoted to her.

Some Improvements.

Marcus Mattingly at Kirk has built a two story dwelling. James Bob Mattingly and James Hinton living in the same neighborhood have built recently new homes. Two stories, and John Monarch is re-modeling his residence near that town, adding lights and a bath room. Will Miller will add a new story to his dwelling this fall. Besides these dwellings a number of new barns have been built, showing that the farmers in that section are all prosperous and are putting their money in new homes and improving their old ones. This all goes to prove that Breckenridge county is forging to the front on all lines.

Ice Business Keeps Up.

"The Cloverport Ice Plant is still enjoying a fine trade," says Wallace Pierce, who has charge of the delivery and sales department. Mr. Pierce says ice is like everything else, people won't buy it unless they have to, notwithstanding it is very expensive. The ice plant runs every day.

Splendid Eyesight

Mrs. Emma Walls, of Hardinsburg is visiting her sister, Mrs. Judas Wallington near Union Star. Mrs. Walls is 80 years old and her sister 87 and both read without glasses.

A Successful Sale.

W. N. Head had a very successful sale at his farm near Ludburg last Saturday. He had a lot of fine horses that brought good prices, 20 did at his farm implements. The sale amounted to $1200. Mr. Head will not leave the farm, but expects to sell his present place and buy another located more convenient to the railroad. Mr. Head is the buyer for the Henderson Route and a good one. He has bought about $100,000 worth of ties for the road this year, most of which came out of Breckenridge county.

What Folks Say About the News.

Enclosed find money order for $1 for which please send the Breckenridge News for one year. It is like getting a letter from home. Mrs. K. E. Bewley, McKinney, Collins county, Texas, Box 82, Route 1.

Please enter my subscription for the Breckenridge News at once. We have been without the News long enough. J. T. Keenan, pastor M. E. church, Middleport, Ohio.

The Latest.

The expression "Good looking" is the latest, smartest way to express satisfaction and admiration. It may be applied to hats, gowns, pictures, houses, animals, anything from a stick pin to a hobbie skirt.

NOTICE.

When writing items and articles for the News, please write plainly and don't crowd letters and words together. Some of the copy sent in this office would try the patience of Job to read. Glad to get your article, but write them with pains.

THE "MIDGET"

A Revolution in Small Mills
Self-Contained Flour Mill—24 Barrels Per Day.

Tattersall's celebrated patented "Midget" Roller Flour Mill.

The only successful self-contained mill ever built and guaranteed to be the strongest mill in existence.

Will produce 24 pounds of good flour per bushel of wheat weighing 60 pounds.

The "Midget" flour has the sweetness and flavor produced by the old stone mill, with the whiteness of the modern roller process.

Operated with only 2 to 4 horsepower, according to the character of wheat, and only one man's time is required to run entire milling plant.

The most successful flour machine of any description ever put on the market. In constant use throughout Europe grinding all kinds of wheat, and it grinds all kinds of American wheat most successfully.

A milling business with one-half the capital heretofore required and operating expenses cut down two-thirds.

Grinding 10 hours per day with product sold at the mill door, the "Midget" mill will net the operator $8 per hour.

Sold on trial, you to be the judge whether it comes up to your expectations.

The competition of the largest mills and make money while they are losing it.

It is the safest and surest manufacturing proposition ever offered the American public.

The "Midget" is run with a gasoline engine or any light power.

Our exhibition mill installed at J. W. Gilbert's Sons mill on Fourth St. will be operating each day during the Devine County Fair, Oct. 4-8, from 10 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 3 p. m. or any other time by request. All are invited to inspect.

We will be pleased to give or send catalogues and samples of work on request.
